

ENRIGHT TAKES JOY FROM BEACH POLICE

Bathing and Other Pleasures When 'on Duty' Prohibited in New Orders.

INSPECTORS WARNED

Told to Have Men at Resorts Telephone Station at Regular Times.

ROWDY NUISANCE SEEN

Bungalow Drinkers Face Close Supervision—Motor Warning Is Issued.

Such policemen as have in the past taken summer assignments at the beaches and pleasure resorts as an enjoyable vacation while on duty will not be able to do so this season, according to an order yesterday by Commissioner Enright. On the eve of assigning large details to the resorts Mr. Enright sent out this order through Chief Inspector William J. Lahey:

"Detectives and members of the uniformed force who are assigned to beaches and other resorts for special duty during the summer time in many instances do not properly perform their duties. Information has been received that many of them devote much of their time to bathing and otherwise enjoying themselves when they should be performing the work to which they are assigned.

"Commanding officers of precincts in which these resorts are located are hereby directed to give careful consideration to the work performed by members of the force assigned to their command and to require them to call the station by telephone or by signal box regularly. Supervising officers will see that the men perform their duties."

Car Rowdy Nuisance.

Commanding officers of inspection districts were ordered to instruct their men to pay particular attention to the young rowdy element returning from various pleasure resorts, especially Saturday and Sunday nights and holidays.

"These men," the order reads, "some of whom belong to clubs located in bungalows at the beaches, go to these resorts for the week end, and it is alleged, have whiskey or other intoxicants with them when they are returning home, and when they are returning cause much annoyance to respectable people who are compelled to ride in the same conveyance. In many instances their conversation is vile and their actions are degrading.

"Commanding officers of precincts in which these resorts are located will instruct the patrol force to pay particular attention to railroad stations on various lines located in Coney Island, Rockaway Beach, Seaside, Hammels and Staten Island, and see that this condition is suppressed without delay."

Calling the attention of the department to the increasing number of casualties in the streets from accidents, Mr. Enright said:

"We have had a number of serious and fatal automobile accidents in the city during the past two weeks. There seems to be a great deal of reckless driving and speeding through the streets which is dangerous to life and limb. An intensive campaign must be begun at once for the purpose of correcting this condition, more particularly as the approaches when schools will be closed and many additional children will be upon the streets every day.

Checking Speed Maniacs.

"Members of the force assigned to the operation of motor vehicles in the various branches of the service can help materially in checking the speed maniac and reckless driver who is responsible for accidents, and who is a danger to the public. It is the duty of the patrol squad and motorcycle officers to be able to offer valuable suggestions and to much personally to decrease serious and fatal accidents in the streets of this city."

"Unquestionably there are many improvements which might be suggested for the regulation of traffic in the city. It is the duty of the patrol squad and motorcycle officers to be able to offer valuable suggestions and to much personally to decrease serious and fatal accidents in the streets of this city."

"This phase of the situation is not receiving the proper attention from responsible officers in charge thereof. Nine hundred persons were killed in the city last year, and the probability a greater number will be killed during the present year and at the same time a large number of persons seriously injured.

"The situation demands the most earnest attention. Commanding officers must give the matter special attention. Each should call his supervising officers into a conference for the purpose of ascertaining the causes of accidents in his territory and then take steps to prevent them in the future."

FIRE VETERANS HOLD SERVICES FOR DEAD

200 at Memorial in St. James's Church, Brooklyn.

Memorial services for members of the Fire Department who died last year were held yesterday at St. James's Protestant Episcopal Church, Lariviere avenue and St. James place, Brooklyn, under the direction of New York Fire Department Post No. 500. Veterans of the Fire Department, two hundred firemen of the post marched to the church from the Franklin avenue library, headed by the Fire Department Band.

Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Harry A. Handell, chaplain of the post, and a memorial was preached by the Rev. James O. S. Huntington, Superior of the Order of the Holy Cross. A gold watch was presented to the Rev. Mr. Handell in appreciation of his services to the post during the last twenty years. "Smoky Joe" Martin made the presentation.

TO CONTINUE CHILD FEEDING.

LONDON, May 28.—The free city of Danzig, from which the American Relief Administration is to withdraw in June of this year, has now passed the necessary legislation to continue the child feeding in the future.

This is the second Government to arrange for the continuance of the American work after the closing of the R. A. office, Poland having the honor to be first. The A. R. A. has operated in Danzig since April, 1921, and up to January last had served meals to 73,000 children of that city. Some help was also given to nursing mothers.

VETERAN IS HONEYMOONING AS HIS 'DEATH' IS HONORED

Anthony Pentola, Often Declared Killed in War, Is Absent From Dedication of Latest of Three Memorials Bearing His Name in Brooklyn.

If Anthony Pentola had not been on his honeymoon yesterday he would have gone to Freedom Square, Bushwick Parkway and Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn, and looked on while patriotic organizations, with many speeches and much music, dedicated a monument in honor of the eighty-three boys from that part of Brooklyn who died during the war. Pentola's name is fifty-seventh in the list that is molded on the base of the monument.

As it was, Pentola stayed on his honeymoon, for which he departed a few days ago from his home at 21 Louis place, Brooklyn, while his comrades of the George Cacioppo Post of the American Legion told the story of how Pentola's name appears among the dead and how he never seems able to convince the War Department and the Bureau of War Risk Insurance that he did not die in Cambrai in 1918. Pentola's name is on two other monuments in Brooklyn—one in Heller Square, Knickerbocker and Myrtle avenues, and the other in Prospect Park. There was a tree planted in his honor in Bedford avenue, but he had it named again for some soldier who really was killed.

The confusion over Pentola began when he was shot in the back of the head one day while fighting with Company C of the 108th Infantry, Twenty-seventh Division. They were getting

SEIZE 5 IN MOTOR

HIT NEW LOW EBB AFTER 3 ROBBERIES

Banton's Drive Results in Sending 337 to Prison for 1,829 Years.

Since April 17, just six weeks ago, when the District Attorney of New York exerted pressure to speed up trials for crimes of violence, to clear court calendars and put fear into the hearts of thugs, 337 defendants have been sent to jail and an aggregate of 1,829 years in maximum sentences imposed. In his opinion this showing marks a new low ebb in crimes of violence.

During this period there were 669 convictions and pleas of guilty. A comparison with the figures of the corresponding period of last year shows that but 345 cases were disposed of, and approximately only 350 years of imprisonment.

An even greater contrast appears in the fact that during the entire year 1921 aggregate sentences totalled 2,839 years, a little more than 1,000 years above the sentences given in six weeks of this year.

The significance, it is pointed out, is that during District Attorney Banton's drive against crime preference was given to acts of violence on the trial lists and judges favored heavy penalties for the guilty.

Deterrent Effect Observed.

The results of the increased speed in the functioning of the courts, in the opinion of Mr. Banton, is the clearing of the badly clogged calendars and the apparent deterrent effect upon prospective criminals.

One phase of the improvement which particularly pleases Mr. Banton is the decrease in pending bail cases. The ratio between prison and bail cases virtually has been reversed.

Previously the number of bail cases has almost always exceeded the number of prison cases awaiting trial. On the calendar at the present time, of the forty-six cases of robbery, burglary and pistol carrying awaiting trial only seventeen are bail cases.

"It means," said Mr. Banton yesterday, "that the accused man who can afford to give bail is not going to be helped much by doing so. My policy from now on is to give a quicker trial to the man at liberty under bail than to the man in jail."

Men in Prison Harmless.

"So long as a man is in prison we know he can't do any harm," he added, "while we don't know how many more stickups the man at large under bail may commit."

Mr. Banton emphasized that he hoped to continue with his policy of speedy trial at all times, adding, "It's the only way to keep crime under control. A thug will take a chance when he believes, even if caught, he won't go to trial for a couple of years. He won't take it if he knows he will face a court within a few weeks."

The next class of crime which Mr. Banton intends to concentrate upon is the "Wall Street crook." As soon as he has completed presenting to the Grand Jury for indictment all those cases which grew out of the recent exposure into the financial district he proposes to clear his courts for the trials of alleged racketeers.

POLICEMAN LOSES LIFE GETTING ON MOTOR CAR

Cavanagh of Coney Island Is Victim of a Slip.

Patrolman Patrick Cavanagh, a mounted man attached to the Coney Island station, died yesterday in Coney Island. He was killed when an automobile driven by Granville Rider of 1409 New Utrecht avenue, Brooklyn, approached. The policeman signaled that he wanted to ride, and Rider slowed down. Before he could stop Cavanagh jumped on the running board. His foot slipped and he fell backward, his head striking the pavement. Rider took him to the hospital. He failed to regain consciousness.

He leaves a wife and two small children, with whom he lived at 307 West Twenty-fourth street. He had a good record during his six years on the force, including several rescues. He served in the navy during the war. He was 26 years old.

WOULD NOT ABANDON RED DANGER LIGHTS

But Suggest Green for Safety Exits in Buildings.

THE NEW YORK HERALD on May 24, in an article reporting the meeting of the American Engineering Standards Committee, stated in the heading of the article that the committee advocated the substitution of green lights for danger signals instead of red. This was an error, as no such suggestion was made at the meeting.

The error grew out of the fact that the committee suggested that green be substituted for red as the color of light for emergency exits in theaters and public buildings; for the reasons that these exits are in places of danger, but paths to safety.

THOUSANDS ATTEND

War Veterans in Force at Legion's Observance in St. John's Cathedral.

MASS IN ST. ANDREWS

Senators Lenroot and Calder

at Coliseum—Jews Hear Judge Marx.

PLAQUES ON BRONX TREES

Spanish Conflict Survivors Pay Tribute in Central Park to Their Dead.

Memorial services in honor of the soldiers who fell in the late war and in previous wars were held in scores of churches throughout the city yesterday and attended by thousands of persons who wished to pay tribute to the memory of friends and relatives.

Perhaps the most impressive of all was that conducted by the American Legion in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. The Army, Navy and Marine Corps headed a procession and down the line at various intervals between the Red Cross, the Waacs and the overseas workers were French, British and Belgian veterans carrying their own colors, and the killed men of the Scots regiments.

Bishop Manning officiated and delivered the address of welcome. The Right Rev. Dr. Howard C. Robbins, dean of the Cathedral, read the lesson, and the Rev. John McLaughlin, former chaplain of Camp Niagara, delivered the sermon. "It is fitting that we should remember the dead," he said, "and it is also well to have a remembrance that the doctrine of 'might is right' is not yet dead."

"While honoring the dead," said Bishop Manning, "it is fitting that we should not forget the living. For the sake of simple justice, common decency and the sacred honor of our country, we must see it, without even counting the cost, that everything possible is done to take care of those who suffered injury or disability in the late war."

Services Held on the Mall. The United Spanish War Veterans of New York county held their Memorial Day services in the Mall in Central Park. The Service Unit, Band and the Accordion Quartet supplied the music, and there were speeches by State and city officials.

Mr. Luke J. Evers, rector of St. Andrew's Church, City Hall place and Duane street, was the celebrant of a solemn high memorial mass yesterday morning for the repose of the souls of all those who died for their country and their country and for all deceased parishioners and priests of the downtown church.

Mr. James H. McGee, rector of St. Peter's Church, Barclay street, was also the celebrant at a memorial mass at St. Andrew's for the deceased members of the Catholic Young Men's Society, of which he is the spiritual father.

Services at the Coliseum Theater, Broadway and 181st street, were attended by more than a thousand ex-service men, who marched from Mitchell square to the theater under command of Col. Walter A. Delamater, assistant chief of staff of the Seventy-seventh Division. United States Senator Irvine Lenroot was the principal speaker. Others were Senator Calder, former Gov. Whitman and the Rev. Dr. Christian F. Reiser, pastor of the Chelsea Church. Julia Arthur recited the "Star Spangled Banner" and Anna Case sang several hymns.

Jewish Dead Honored.

The veterans of Jewish faith held their services at the Hebrew synagogue, heard Judge Robert S. Marx of Cincinnati, president of the Disabled Veterans of the World War; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and Maurice Simmons, commander in chief of the Hebrew veterans.

Speaking of the Jews in war, Judge Marx said: "Their heroic record is irrefutable evidence of the patriotic devotion of the American Jew to America."

Nine hundred and fifty bronze plaques will be dedicated at the Memorial Day services in the Bronx to the names of the Jewish soldiers who were killed in the war. The plaques will be held at the Grand Concourse, at 194th street.

In St. Paul's churchyard to-morrow a wreath will be placed on the tomb of the late Edward M. Reicher, of Rochefort, a distinguished French soldier, who served as a volunteer under Washington. The Rev. A. V. Whittemore, rector of the Episcopal church of the Holy Trinity, will officiate.

A memorial monument for the service men from Washington Heights will be unveiled to-morrow at Broadway and 168th street, near the armory of the 162d Infantry.

GRAVE OF ROOSEVELT IS MEMORIAL MECCA

Widow to Receive Intercollegiate Club To-morrow.

Over 2,000 individuals arriving on trains and automobiles yesterday viewed the grave of Theodore Roosevelt in Young's Memorial Cemetery at Oyster Bay. Seventy-five boys of Troop 10, Brooklyn Boy Scouts, headed by a band, marched to the grave and left a large wreath. The scoutmaster made a speech. It is expected that Memorial Day will see at least 5,000 visitors at the cemetery, for a large parade is being planned by the Quentin Roosevelt Post, American Legion, Lodge 12, in conjunction with the Intercollegiate Club of New York.

After the ceremonies at the grave the Intercollegiate Club will be received by Mrs. Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill. Acting Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt and H. D. Lindsay, first commander of the American Legion, are expected to be present.

WILL MAKE DINOSAURS HUNT.

CALGARY, Alberta, May 28.—A party under Levi Sternberg of the Royal Ontario Museum will continue their search this summer for the remains of dinosaurs in the Red Deer River Valley. The members will float down the river on a raft, observing the high walls of the declivity through which the river has cut its way and from whose sides bones of these prehistoric monsters often protrude. The party will be gone three or four months.

337 Sent Up in 6 Weeks of War Against Crime

THE following summary of the number of criminals sentenced to State prison and the years imposed for various classes of crime during the last six weeks compiled by THE NEW YORK HERALD:

Crime.	Defendants.	Sentences.
Murder.....	2	40
Manslaughter.....	10	190
Robbery.....	55	727 1/2
Burglary.....	23	201 1/2
Pistol carrying.....	9	49 1/2
Assault.....	6	33 1/2
Burglars' tools.....	1	3
Grand larceny.....	25	113 1/2
Forgery.....	4	20 1/2
Bigamy.....	2	7
Statutory charges.....	3	19 1/2
Extortion.....	2	10
Rec. stolen property.....	2	5
Total.....	144	1,430

In addition, 116 defendants were sent to the penitentiary for terms varying from six months to three years; 32 to Elmira Reformatory for a maximum of one year, and 45 to New York City Reformatory (Harris Island), the City Prison and the Workhouse for shorter terms, making the grand total 337 prison terms, of 1,829 years.

ATLANTIC CITY ONLY 65 MINUTES AWAY

Flying Boat Makes Record Trip to Shore.

H. A. Bruno of the Aeromarine Company last night announced that the flying boat Ambassador flew from its mooring at Eighty-second street and Hudson River in the afternoon to Atlantic City in sixty-five minutes. Commander N. B. Farwell, U. S. N., wife were in a hurry to reach Atlantic City, and the Aeromarine people undertook to oblige.

D. G. Richardson piloted the craft which had the wind with it, helping to make what Bruno said he believed was the fastest run ever made to Atlantic City. The boat was back in this city before a telegram announcing the arrival of the Ambassador at Atlantic City was delivered to Mr. Bruno.

GAME WARDEN FINDS BIG FISH STORY IS TRUE

Easthampton Boy's Catch of 8 Pound Trout Verified.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD: EASTHAMPTON, Mass., May 28.—Apparently Gamewarden Patrick McCarthy has solved the mystery and dispelled some of the doubt that followed the announcement that Grant Craig, 15, of Easthampton, had caught a brown trout weighing eight and a quarter pounds.

Last Thursday the boy went to a fishing hole in the stream where he had occasionally pulled out small fry. He was equipped with a light steel rod and a canful of alive worms.

He had scarcely thrown in his line when a huge fish rose to the bait with a mighty splash. Young Craig got one look at the monster, tied his line around a tree, jumped in after the trout and grabbed the fish with his hands.

It is thought the trout came up the brook from a pond, where McCarthy recalls releasing two large brown trout, weighing about two pounds apiece, several years ago.

PLATTSBURG TRAINING CAMP OPENS JUNE 16

Four Hundred, Mostly College Men, Are Entered.

I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up in the morn-n-ing! This is the sleep shattering tune that will be sung out 400 men, most of them college students, at the Plattsburg Reserve Officers' Training Camp on the morning of June 16. They report on June 15 and will be straggling in all day, but the following morning army regulations take hold. Col. Jesse C. Nicholls, U. S. A., has been designated to command the camp. Every university in the Second Corps Area will be represented. The enrollments from Cornell, Syracuse, Columbia, New York University, Rutgers, the City College and the University of Delaware have been heavy.

FATHER DIES; BOY DOES NOT LIKE WATER, SAVED

James Greason, aged 35, of 5712 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, a packer employed by the American Railway Express Company, died in the Methodist Episcopal Hospital last night after taking a drink of water from a bottle that had contained disinfectant. The five-year-old son of Greason, who also got a drink from the bottle, will recover.

Greason, with his son, was in a lively stable owned by C. H. Powers, at 730 Union street. He took the boy to a trough to get a drink of water, and, seeing no cup, he got a bottle from a shelf and filled it with water.

The child did not like the taste of the drink and spat most of the water out. Greason took a drink and soon collapsed. He was rushed to the hospital, but did not regain consciousness.

THINK RUM MEN SENT CAR ON 70 FEET DROP

State troopers think that the automobile found at the bottom of a seventy-foot stone quarry at Thornwood in the northern part of Westchester county, which was stolen from Michael Roda, of 4 Clinton street, Yonkers, was used in the bootleg traffic and then discarded by being driven to the edge of the quarry, and with the occupants had alighted, allowed to topple over. It is covered by ten feet of water, and the police yesterday were unable to dig it out. There were many footprints near the spot, and several empty whiskey bottles.

It's not a very strange thing for a business man to want these things. Most of them do. This man doesn't want to wait for favorable public opinion. He wants to go straight to the mark for more sales and greater profits. He wants a public actually buying his goods—not just a public getting more favorably disposed toward buying. Nevertheless, the way advertising works is through the moulding of favorable public opinion.

"Why don't you talk about selling goods? Public opinion is all right, but what I want to know is how about sales, profits, turnover, more distribution, more window displays, bigger earnings, as a result of buying advertising!"

Whether the results from advertising are fast or slow, the process is the same—it is the moulding of a favorable public opinion for articles or services that deserve it.

Advertising is a relatively new thing. But it is not so new that people who buy it should be uninformed as to how it works.

Whether the results from advertising are fast or slow, the process is the same—it is the moulding of a favorable public opinion for articles or services that deserve it.

Advertising is a relatively new thing. But it is not so new that people who buy it should be uninformed as to how it works.

Whether the results from advertising are fast or slow, the process is the same—it is the moulding of a favorable public opinion for articles or services that deserve it.

Advertising is a relatively new thing. But it is not so new that people who buy it should be uninformed as to how it works.

Whether the results from advertising are fast or slow, the process is the same—it is the moulding of a favorable public opinion for articles or services that deserve it.

Advertising is a relatively new thing. But it is not so new that people who buy it should be uninformed as to how it works.

Whether the results from advertising are fast or slow, the process is the same—it is the moulding of a favorable public opinion for articles or services that deserve it.

Advertising is a relatively new thing. But it is not so new that people who buy it should be uninformed as to how it works.

Whether the results from advertising are fast or slow, the process is the same—it is the moulding of a favorable public opinion for articles or services that deserve it.

Advertising is a relatively new thing. But it is not so new that people who buy it should be uninformed as to how it works.

Whether the results from advertising are fast or slow, the process is the same—it is the moulding of a favorable public opinion for articles or services that deserve it.

SAVES AT CONEY GIRL HE RESCUED AT MIAMI

'You Again!' Exclaims Canoe Upset Victim.

When Madge Merritt, aged 19, of 2455 Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, opened her eyes yesterday afternoon at the Brighton Beach baths after she had been rescued by Capt. George Ahrens of the Coast Guard, she looked up at the Captain and said:

"What? You again? Why, Captain, you rescue me wherever I go." And a little later Miss Merritt explained that when she and her family were at Miami, Fla., last winter she almost drowned and the Captain, who was on guard on the Florida coast at the time, pulled her out of the water after a struggle and revived her. It was reported by Police Capt. John J. Hughes, who commands the police of Coney Island and who was standing near at the time, that Capt. Ahrens came through nobly and said something about it being a small old world after all.

Miss Merritt almost lost her life because she did what she had been told not to attempt hundreds of times—that is, change seats in a canoe. She and her sister Victoria, aged 16, were in the frail craft about a quarter of a mile off Brighton Beach when she decided to move from one seat to another. The canoe overturned, and she and her sister were in a hurry to reach Atlantic City, and the Aeromarine people undertook to oblige.

D. G. Richardson piloted the craft which had the wind with it, helping to make what Bruno said he believed was the fastest run ever made to Atlantic City. The boat was back in this city before a telegram announcing the arrival of the Ambassador at Atlantic City was delivered to Mr. Bruno.

GAME WARDEN FINDS BIG FISH STORY IS TRUE

Easthampton Boy's Catch of 8 Pound Trout Verified.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD: EASTHAMPTON, Mass., May 28.—Apparently Gamewarden Patrick McCarthy has solved the mystery and dispelled some of the doubt that followed the announcement that Grant Craig, 15, of Easthampton, had caught a brown trout weighing eight and a quarter pounds.

Last Thursday the boy went to a fishing hole in the stream where he had occasionally pulled out small fry. He was equipped with a light steel rod and a canful of alive worms.

He had scarcely thrown in his line when a huge fish rose to the bait with a mighty splash. Young Craig got one look at the monster, tied his line around a tree, jumped in after the trout and grabbed the fish with his hands.

It is thought the trout came up the brook from a pond, where McCarthy recalls releasing two large brown trout, weighing about two pounds apiece, several years ago.

PLATTSBURG TRAINING CAMP OPENS JUNE 16

Four Hundred, Mostly College Men, Are Entered.

I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up in the morn-n-ing! This is the sleep shattering tune that will be sung out 400 men, most of them college students, at the Plattsburg Reserve Officers' Training Camp on the morning of June 16. They report on June 15 and will be straggling in all day, but the following morning army regulations take hold. Col. Jesse C. Nicholls, U. S. A., has been designated to command the camp. Every university in the Second Corps Area will be represented. The enrollments from Cornell, Syracuse, Columbia, New York University, Rutgers, the City College and the University of Delaware have been heavy.

FATHER DIES; BOY DOES NOT LIKE WATER, SAVED

James Greason, aged 35, of 5712 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, a packer employed by the American Railway Express Company, died in the Methodist Episcopal Hospital last night after taking a drink of water from a bottle that had contained disinfectant. The five-year-old son of Greason, who also got a drink from the bottle, will recover.

Greason, with his son, was in a lively stable owned by C. H. Powers, at 730 Union street. He took the boy to a trough to get a drink of water, and, seeing no cup, he got a bottle from a shelf and filled it with water.

The child did not like the taste of the drink and spat most of the water out. Greason took a drink and soon collapsed. He was rushed to the hospital, but did not regain consciousness.

THINK RUM MEN SENT CAR ON 70 FEET DROP

State troopers think that the automobile found at the bottom of a seventy-foot stone quarry at Thornwood in the northern part of Westchester county, which was stolen from Michael Roda, of 4 Clinton street, Yonkers, was used in the bootleg traffic and then discarded by being driven to the edge of the quarry, and with the occupants had alighted, allowed to topple over. It is covered by ten feet of water, and the police yesterday were unable to dig it out. There were many footprints near the spot, and several empty whiskey bottles.

Milk That's Grade A Plus

Milk so carefully packed that no icing is necessary until the package is opened.

ROGERS RICHEST MILK

Sealed in sterilized glass jars. Richer than any milk sold.

Fine For Babies. You see its pure, fresh richness through the transparent glass before you buy.

LEWIS OHLS, 849 Amsterdam Ave.

George Batten Company, Inc.

Advertising